KIMBOLTON CASTLE

A grade 1 listed masterpiece located in Cambridgeshire, offering a wedding venue worthy of Dukes and Duchesses.

Kimbolton Castle has a rich history dating back to the late 12th century. Originally a medieval fortress, it was transformed into a stately home in the 16th century, famously known as the final residence of Queen Katherine of Aragon, the first wife of Henry VIII.

In the early 18th century, architect Sir John Vanbrugh redesigned Kimbolton Castle in its current baroque style.

Kimbolton Castle offers a unique blend of history, elegance and stunning natural beauty.

The castle's majestic architecture and historic state rooms provide a regal and romantic setting, perfect for a memorable ceremony and reception.

THE STATE ROOMS

Getting married in the state rooms of Kimbolton Castle offers a unique blend of historic grandeur and timeless elegance.

The opulent surroundings, from the ornate ceilings and classical artwork to the rich architectural details, provide a stunning backdrop for your wedding.

The variety of rooms allows for both large and small gatherings, while the castle's historical significance adds a sense of prestige and romance to the occasion.

The most grandiose room, the Saloon, illuminated by chandeliers, features historical portraits and lavish décor, providing an ideal setting for ceremonies and wedding banquets.

The Pellegrini staircase is a centerpiece of the castle's interior, adorned with hand-painted murals by the Italian artist Giovanni Pellegrini. Created in the early 18th century, these murals depict classical mythological scenes in vibrant colors and dynamic compositions.

THE MALL

A tree-lined avenue leading to Kimbolton Castle provides a dramatic and scenic backdrop for an outdoor woodland tipi or marquee wedding.

As night time descends Kimbolton Castle lights up, illuminating its historic features creating a magical and enchanting venue.

The Mall at Kimbolton Castle is available for private hire, offering you the flexibility to create a unique wedding theme tailored to your preferences. Unlike other venues, there are no catering limitations, allowing you to select your own catering supplier or even opt for street food-style vintage trucks. Additionally, we can provide an exceptional list of recommended suppliers to help bring your vision to life.
